GREAT AUSTRALIAN WORKS OF ART

What do retired Aboriginal pro-footballer Adam Goodes, actor Magda Szubanski and Kurdish-Iranian author, journalist, artist and academic Behrouz Boochani have in common? The trio join another seven great Australians who are being beamed larger than life onto the huge 17 metre by 5 metre screen on the exterior of the Twin Towns building.

The latest Twin Towns light show, which can be seen each night from 18 January to 7 February, marks the launch of the 2020 Archibald Prize regional tour at Tweed Regional Gallery and Margaret Olley Art Centre on 22 January 2021.

The Archibalds are awarded each year to the best portrait, 'preferentially of some man or woman distinguished in art, letters, science or politics, painted by any artist resident in Australasia'. The Archibald Prize is a who's who of Australian culture, from politicians to celebrities and from sporting heroes to artists.

Included in the light show is the artwork titled 'Stand strong for who you are', a portrait of Adam Goodes by Vincent Namatjira. This painting won the 2020 Archibald prize and Namatjira became the first Indigenous artist to win in its 99-year history.

Tweed Regional Gallery will host the Archibald Prize 2020 from 22 January until 7 March 2021. At the Gallery exhibition, all 55 finalist artworks will be on display.

The 2020 Archibald Prize regional tour is a ticketed exhibition, whilst the rest of the Gallery is free of charge. Click here to purchase tickets for the Archibald Prize Exhibition.

Local history on the big screen

A special presentation of images and videos from Tweed Regional Museum's collection continues on Twin Towns big screen until 10 January. The slideshow features rare beach scenes from the early 1900s through to the 1960s, with Summer holiday crowds depicted camping, swimming and competing in the Hokey Pokey dance and beauty competitions.

Museum Curator Erika Taylor said the rare footage taken by Charles Simpson in the 1940s and 1950s which was donated to the Museum by the Simpson family, is being shown outside the Museum for the first time.

"The Hokey Pokey competitions that he captured attracted up to 1000 people at a time. No trip to Greenmount in the 1950s and 1960s was complete without taking part in the famous Hokey Pokey competition, a dance based on hand jive," said Erika.

"At the time the phenomenon attracted national and international media attention so became known around the world."

BREEZES LOUNGE

You've probably spotted the name Pisco Sour on cocktail lists but may not know much about its main ingredient.

Pisco is a grape-distilled spirit. Its origins date back to the 16th century, when Spanish settlers in Peru and Chile came up with the recipe as an alternative to Orujo, a pomace brandy they imported from their home country.

For centuries, Chile and Peru have argued over bragging rights to the creation of Pisco. Much like their rivalry over who has the best soccer team, it's an argument that most likely will never be settled.

Historians and drink experts do agree the cocktail known as the Pisco Sour was invented in Peru in the early 1920s by American bartender Victor Vaughen Morris. Today, there are various recipes for the Pisco Sour but Twin Towns sticks to the basic Peruvian recipe.

Tart yet sweet, creamy, and herbaceous, Breezes Pisco Sour includes one and a half nips (45ml) of Pisco, lime juice, egg whites, sugar syrup and a sprinkling of bitters.

Barry said golfers and visitors to Club Banora will be able to wander in for a drink after a game of golf or to check out the golfing gear and accessories available from the Pro Shop.

"The bar will be open every day, and we'll also be serving coffee, tea and light snacks.

"There are some nice spots overlooking the lake where you can relax and enjoy some fresh air, a quiet drink and a game of Keno if you like," said Barry.

Helping out at the Island House will be two of Barry's family members, son Rhys, daughter Tegan, and current staff member Tim Black.
